

Project Excellence

Facilitators Project Excellent Resourcing offers the experienced, reliable answer to your Project Management, Planning and Cost Control resourcing requirements.

How can Facilitators Project Excellence Resourcing help you?

We provide independent, specialist support and resources in the management and control of operations and projects. We offer a flexible approach to meet your needs. We recognise that sometimes you need people to fill positions on a long-term basis but that you don't want to employ them. Our subject-matter experts ensure that you receive a level of knowledge and understanding that isn't available from recruitment agencies so you get the right resource to meet your requirements.

We have a strong track record in Project Controls and Project Management consultancy and have had continuing success placing people into long-term and short-term projects. We only place people into Project Controls and Project Management positions so we are specialists in finding, developing and managing people in these areas.

We have a dedicated team who find the right person for your role requirements and we know what makes an effective project manager, project engineer, planner, or cost controller so you don't have to waste time interviewing lots of unsuitable candidates. We also make sure that you get the right level of expertise for your requirements.

Once you find the right person for your resource requirements we will continue to provide support to them and to you. We have an active community of project controls professionals and back-up support from Facilitators Partners so any technical queries, process queries or system queries can be answered as part of our service. We can guarantee that you will benefit from our quality processes where a Facilitators Partner personally visits you to ensure that our people are carrying out their roles effectively and work with you to recognise good performance and capitalise on improvement opportunities.

Project Excellence

What are the benefits?

- You increase the quality, competence and stability of your team and eliminate the risks that can be encountered when using non-specialist recruitment agencies
- You get the most effective person to carry out specific roles at all times so your projects are delivered efficiently
- Flexibility - you are not tied to a fixed resource base, but able to bring in the best resource for the job - combined with the ability to change personnel if required or provide cover for holiday/sickness
- Independence - enabling us to be objective in the development and reporting of Project Control information
- A responsive support team who understand your requirements and act on them quickly to save you time
- Trust and long term relationships - by understanding your business, providing the best resources available and actively managing our relationship
- Performance improvement through more effective and efficient Project Management and Control - giving you a competitive advantage
- No “introduction” or “hidden” fees
- We convert principles into practice into results

Our experience
